CRITICAL THINKING

Case 2.1

Larry has always been a peaceful, law-abiding man, and he has raised his kids to be the same way. He donates to charitable causes and provides a comfortable life for his family. One night he takes his kids to a carnival and in the parking lot, they are confronted by an armed robber. The robber has a knife and threatens to harm one of Larry's kids if he does not hand over his wallet.

- 1. Larry has always professed non-violence, but in this instance he fights the robber to protect his child. Technically, by fighting, he is violating his moral belief that one should be non-violent. His decision to fight in this instance, which he believes to be justified, is an example of:
 - a. Absolutism
 - b. Universality
 - c. Egoism
 - d. Situational ethics

ANS: D

REF: p. 44

- 2. A deontological response to the situation would require Larry to:
 - a. remain passive, regardless of the consequences
 - b. pray for guidance
 - c. fight hard against the robber, regardless of the injury he might inflict
 - d. only be concerned with protecting himself

ANS: A REF: pp. 33-34

OBJ: LO 1,5

- 3. A teleological response to the situation would require Larry to:
 - a. remain passive, regardless of the consequences
 - b. pray for guidance
 - c. fight hard against the robber, regardless of the injury he might inflict
 - d. only be concerned with protecting himself

ANS: C

REF: pp. 35-36

OBJ: LO 1,5

- 4. As stated in the scenario, Larry donates to charity but still provides a comfortable life for his family. He has found a balance between the competing virtues of giving to the less-fortunate while also ensuring that he provides for his family. This is an illustration of:
 - a. ethical formalism
 - b. egoism
 - c. natural law
 - d. principle of the golden mean

ANS: D

REF: p. 27

OBJ: LO 2,5

Case 2.2

Mary is a new police officer. One day she observes two fellow officers removing drugs from the evidence room. Mary's ethical system includes a devotion to loyalty, so she is inclined to protect her fellow officers. On the other hand, she also believes in upholding the law.

- 5. Mary's situation is an example of:
 - a. cultural relativism
 - b. egoism
 - c. an ethical dilemma
 - d. the ethics of care

ANS: C

REF: p. 24

OBJ: LO 2

- 6. Mary decides to report the crime that she observed, even though it will mean that her fellow officers will lose their jobs and might also be prosecuted. She has decided that the other officers brought this upon themselves; they WERE originally worthy of her loyalty, but lost that loyalty through their own actions. This illustrates:
 - a. ethical formalism
 - b. egoism
 - c. principle of forfeiture
 - d. principle of the golden mean

ANS: C

REF: p. 44

7. Mary's decision to report the crime had negative effects for the two officers involved, and for Mary personally. However, the rest of the community has benefited from the removal of corrupt police officers.

A(n) viewpoint would find this outcome to be ethical.

a. absolutist

- b. utilitarian
- c. egoist
- d. imperative

ANS: B

REF: pp. 36-37

OBJ: LO 1,5

Case 2.3

The environmental movement in the United States seeks to protect forests and other pristine lands. To most Americans, respecting natural lands and animals probably is consistent with their ethical system. In some other countries, laws protecting the lands do not exist. Farmers and ranchers routinely "slash and burn" in order to farm or raise livestock, and loggers harvest trees indiscriminately. There is no ethical dilemma, since their society accepts these practices as normal and necessary.

- 8. In this instance, their society's definitions differ from the American definitions. This is an example of:
 - a. deontology
 - b. egoism
 - c. cultural relativism
 - d. absolutism

ANS: C

REF: p. 43

OBJ: LO 4

- 9. Farmers, ranchers, and loggers in these countries engage in these practices because they deem it necessary to provide for their families. Because their focus is on providing for their families and communities, they are adhering to the ethical system known as:
 - a. ethics of care
 - b. egoism
 - c. psychological egoism
 - d. golden mean

ANS: A

REF: p. 44

OBJ: LO 2,5

- 10. In America, state, federal, and local governments have enacted laws to protect forests from destruction. Through these laws, the overall community is protected, even though individuals may be negatively affected. By meeting the needs of the overall community, these laws exhibit:
 - a. principle of forfeiture
 - b. principle of the golden mean
 - c. hypothetical imperative
 - d. utilitarianism

ANS: D
